

System Safety Development

INVENSITY Center of Excellence Safety Management

Background

The drafting and implementation of safety-related requirements is a necessary, if time-consuming, task. Before the company's own staff can be deployed, it is necessary to give them extensive training in the area of safety management and in the use of the tools employed.

System Safety Development is glad to support you in meeting this challenge and, if required, will take over part or all of the specifications for safety-related requirements.

Innovation made by talents

Contact
 Karl Jaeger
 Head of Center of Excellence Safety Management karl.jaeger@invensity.com